

Whether or not the FCC intends to cater to major media companies and gradually curtail the amount and quality of information available to the American public is irrelevant: great damage has been done, and is continuing to be done, by the Commission's slackening of media ownership rules. The public demands that the FCC execute its duty, namely to protect freedom of the press and the airwaves from those who would monopolize their power. Stop the dumbing down of our news, and allow us the access federal law claims is ours! Do not further ease the ownership rules on June 2nd.
